

When a retailer asks you to recall a batch, the clock starts immediately. You need to know where that product is, which ingredients went into it and which customer got it, today, not next week.

The hard part isn't the recall. It's answering those questions when your traceability lives in paper logs and disconnected spreadsheets.

Our Traceability software connects the whole line: goods-in, shop floor data capture, processing, packaging and despatch. Trace any batch backwards and forwards in minutes, with yield analysis and compliance reporting built in. And because it's modular, it co-exists with the systems you already run.

Over 30 years in food manufacturing, one ecosystem, from shop floor to top floor.

Ready to see how quickly you could trace a batch? Get in touch: Contact Hub & Spoke to discuss your traceability requirements or arrange a practical review of your current process.

Call 0121 289 9648 or Email us at enquiries@foodservices.solutions or simply visit our website at https://foodservices.solutions/

#HubAndSpoke #Traceability #FoodManufacturing #FoodSafety #RecallReadiness